Connectivity

NATS supports several kinds of connectivity directly to the NATS servers.

- Plain NATS connections
- TLS encrypted NATS connections
- WebSocket NATS connections
- MQTT client connections

There is also a number of adapters available to bridge traffic to and from other messaging systems

- Kafka Bridge
- JMS which can also be used to bridge MQ and RabbitMQ, since they both offer a JMS interface

---

□□□ #1
□ cocobook-sync □□□ 2026-10-28 11:10:40 UTC
□ cocobook-sync □□□ 2026-10-28 11:10:40 UTC